FEMA and FCC Plan Nationwide Emergency Alert Test Oct. 4.

FEMA, in coordination with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), will conduct a nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System (EAS) and Wireless Emergency Alerts (WEA) on Oct. 4.

The national test will consist of two portions, testing WEA and EAS capabilities. Both tests are scheduled to begin at approximately 2:20 p.m. ET on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The WEA portion of the test will be directed to all consumer cell phones and will be the third nationwide test, but the second test to all cellular devices. The test message will display in either English or Spanish, depending on the language settings of the wireless handset. The EAS portion of the test will be sent to radios and televisions. This will be the seventh nationwide EAS test.

We Can't Do It Alone: Strategies for State and Local Coordination on Prenatal-to-Three Efforts

To promote efficiency and cooperation across levels of government, the National Association of Counties Research Foundation, the National League of Cities and the National Conference of State Legislatures have teamed up to develop the Government in Action learning series.

Building from this series, We Can't Do It Alone highlights key strategies to help state and local leaders identify common challenges and actionable strategies to strengthen alignments between state, county and city governments and coordinate prenatal-to-three (PN-3) agendas in their communities.

This resource explores:

- PN-3 authorities and levers at each level of government
- Strategies for each level of government to advance healthy births, supported families and high-quality care and education
- Real world examples of intergovernmental coordination around PN-3, and
- Strategies for state and local coordination in PN-3.
